

View this email in your browser

This Week's Must See Art Events in LA

May 30 - June 2

Brink at PAM A Performance by NICK+JAMES with Dez'Mon. In the culmination of their residency, NICK+JAMES present their third dance, a study in mirroring and reflecting one another. Since 2008, they've performed together

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▼

Alexandra Grant *Born to Love* at Lowell Ryan Projects A blend of abstraction and text, Born to Love stands as an exploration of that radical stance—a stance that goes beyond it's personal agenda to take on much greater social and universal implications.

(Mid City, Saturday 7:00pm)

Closing & Performances *Shelter or Playground* at MAK Center for Art and Architecture, Schindler House This intermedia piece serves as an entry point into contemporary investigation of the relationships between architecture, technology, and performance.

(West Hollywood, Saturday 1:30pm)

Victoria Fu *TÉLÉVOIX* at Honor Frazer Fu's ongoing exploration of the ways in which light creates a sense of space, whether printed, digital, or projected, addresses our haptic relationship with images. TÉLÉVOIX will feature a large-scale moving-image projection and a window installation.

(Culver City, Saturday 10:00am)

Exhibition Walkthrough with Johanna Breiding & Jennifer Moon at Ochi Projects Breiding represents subjects that are marked deviant or illegible, and Moon's work investigates organizing systems and how these various systems are